JAY S. SKYLER, MD, MACP, FRCP is Professor of Medicine, Pediatrics, and Psychology, in the Division of Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism, Department of Medicine, University of Miami Leonard M. Miller School of Medicine. He was Director of that Division from 2000 to 2004. He is Associate Director for Clinical Research and Academic Programs in the Diabetes Research Institute, University of Miami. For 22 years, Doctor Skyler was Study Chairman for the National Institutes of Health (NIH)-sponsored Diabetes Prevention Trial for T1DM (DPT-1) and its successor the NIH T1DM TrialNet Clinical Trials Study Group (TrialNet), clinical trials networks aimed at preventing T1D or interdicting the T1D disease process. Doctor Skyler had continuous grant support from NIH from 1979 to 2015.

A native of Philadelphia, Dr. Skyler is a graduate of Penn State University and Jefferson Medical College and did postgraduate training in Internal Medicine and in Endocrinology and Metabolism at Duke University Medical Center. He also was on the faculty at Duke, where he was Director of Diabetes and Nutrition Education, and Medical Director of the Physician's Associate Program and was named an Honorary Physician's Associate in recognition of distinguished teaching. He worked 2 years at the Hypertension-Endocrine Branch (Section on Biochemical Pharmacology) of the National Heart and Lung Institute, National Institutes of Health. He joined the University of Miami in 1976.

Dr. Skyler is closely involved with many scientific societies and has served as President of the American Diabetes Association, the International Diabetes Immunotherapy Group, and the Southern Society for Clinical Investigation; and Vice-President of the International Diabetes Federation. He was founding Editor-in-Chief of Diabetes Care (an American Diabetes Association publication with a current impact factor of 16.2), founding Scientific Editor of the International Diabetes Monitor, and was Senior Editor of Diabetes Technology & Therapeutics. Dr. Skyler has been author, editor, or co-editor of 21 books or monographs, and has written over 560 articles, book chapters, or editorials. He also has edited 14 special journal symposia.

Dr. Skyler is the recipient of the 1992 Banting Medal for Service from the American Diabetes Association, the 2014 Distinction in Endocrinology Award from the American College of Endocrinology, the 2015 Distinguished Faculty Scholar Award from the Faculty Senate of the University of Miami, the 2015 Mary Tyler Moore/S. Robert Levine Award for Distinction in Clinical Research from the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, the 2016 Distinguished Alumnus Award from Jefferson Medical College, and the 2017 Josiah K. Lilly Award from the American Diabetes Association. He was named Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians (FRCP) of the UK in 2021. He was selected to give the 2024 George Eisenbarth Memorial Lecture at the annual meeting of nPOD, the network for Pancreatic Organ Donation.
